

MOSCOW, MOSCOW ...

New distribution partner in the Russian market

With Luding Wine and its nationwide distribution network, we have finally found a very powerful distribution partner in Russia. The first order, which left the winery in the direction of Riga after a few bureaucratic delays today, in order to be equipped there for the Russian market, is extremely promising. We look forward to working together and hope for a similar track record as in the US, where MC has been continuously represented for nearly 40 years and is permanently listed in some of the country's leading restaurants.
